PUBLIC LANDS BEING SETTLED

Twenty Million Acres Entered Under Secretary Lane's Administration.

As an answer to the impression which seems to exist that all the public lands of any value have long ago been taken up, Secretary Lane, in an advance statement from his annual report, calls attention to the fact that since March 4, 1913, settlers have made entry on nearly 20,000,000 acres of public lands--an area equal to that of Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and New Jersey combined. During the same period practically as much more coal and other mineral land of the west has been examined in detail in 40-acre tracts by the geological survey, and most of it has been thrown open to settlement or purchase. Some of these lands, such as those which include workable deposits of phosphate or oil, are still withdrawn pending suitable legislation for their disposal or use. Another important activity in public land classification to which the secretary calls attention is the designation of lands for entry as "enlarged," or 320-acre homesteads. Designations under this law approved by him cover 33,453,656 acres.

CIVIC PROGRESS AND SOCIAL SERVICE

South America purchased $50,000,000 worth of machinery in Europe last year.

Out of every 500 young people in the rural districts of the United States, only one enters an agricultural college. Chicago is about to establish a public library of 25,000 volumes in the continental languages of Europe for the benefit of its alien people.

It is proposed to establish a workmen's bank in Detroit, Mich., to lend money on character and at a moderate rate of interest.

A fruit and flower market, at which fruits and flowers from all over the state will be exhibited, will be held this month at the University of California.

Portland, Ore., claims to have saved by having a municipal purchasing agent, the sum of $15,000 on the city's bill for pencils and stationery this year.

Public parks of South Bend will be utilized in building up a modern playground system for that Indiana city, which has a commission now at work upon the plans.

A college for municipal employees of New York City will be held at the city building this winter to teach English, accounting, statistics and city government to office holders under auspices of the administration.

Noah's ark animals, heretofore carved exclusively by German peasants in their cottages, are to be made by English rural people in their homes in a similar manner for the Christmas trade, under arrangements made by a patriotic organization formed to introduce the work and collect the carvings.

BIRDS CARRY WAR MESSAGES AND TAKE PICTURES.

"Thousands of carrier pigeons are being used as bearers of dispatches for the armies at war in Europe," says the December Popular Mechanics Magazine, in an illustrated article. "In Germany some 8,000 of these aerial messengers have been trained for military service, while French statistics show that the number in that country approaches 15,000. Some are also in service as military photographers. A small, light camera is strapped to the breast of a pigeon. As the bird flies the camera operates, making numerous exposures which record details of the territory beneath. The use of the birds is most common, however, as a means of communication between fortifications under siege, or to and from spies in hostile territory."

"Many ingenious methods have been devised for perfecting this form of transmitting advices, such as stamping the messages in cipher on the under feathers of the wings. During the Franco-Prussian war of 1870-71, when Paris was besieged, the pigeon post assumed an important place. A system was developed for reducing messages, by means of photography, to microscopic size and transferring them to thin strips of collodion. Approximately 16,000 words could be put on a film no larger than a couple of postage stamps. Eighteen or twenty of these pellicles, containing words enough to fill three or four large books, were wound tightly and inserted in a quill attached to a tail feather of a pigeon."

SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

Women will wear extremely short skirts next year, but just to illustrate the general pervasiveness of things, the short skirts probably will cost more than the long ones.

The difference between a glorious victory and an ignominious defeat seems to be mainly the nationality of the person who writes the report.

President Wilson has designated November 26 as Thanksgiving day. Well, we can be thankful without violating our neutrality, can't we?

A doctor advises that a gargle should be taken after every fifth kiss. These scientists seem bound to take all the joy out of courtship.

It is growing more and more difficult to convict women accused of murder. It can't be done with men juries. If the women ever get on juries the result will be different. Then the men will all go free.--Moulton's Musings.

THE INDIANS.

Alas! for them, their day is o'er. Their fires are out on hill and shore. No more for them the wild deer bounds. The plow is on their hunting grounds. The pale man's ax rings through their woods. The pale man's sail skins o'er their fleeces. Their pleasant springs are dry. Their children--look! by power oppressed. Beyond the mountains of the west. Their children go to die.
--Charles Sprague.

WISHED SHE COULD DIE

And Be Free From Her Troubles, but Finds Better Way.

Columbia, Tenn.--"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this place, "I wished I would die and be relieved of my suffering, from womanly troubles. I could not get up, without pulling at something to help me, and stayed in bed most of the time. I could not do my household work."

The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally, I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with pains any more, and I don't have to go to bed. In fact, I am sound and well of all my troubles."

Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts with nature--not against her. It is for the tired, nervous, irritable women, who feel as if everything were wrong, and need something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.

If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you. At all druggists.

WHY SOME WOMEN GET BLUE.

In the December Woman's Home Companion Juliet Wilbur Tompkins begins a new serial entitled "The Roving Foot." The illustrations for which are drawn by James Montgomery Flagg, the famous artist. In the following extract taken from the story, Diantha, the principal character, a young married woman of wealthy family, is made to burst out as follows to her husband, Mark, on the subject of women:

"Oh, the lives of women like me! They are all preparation and clearing up and then more preparation--and what is it all for? Nothing that lasts or grows; they haven't any big, real thing to point to at the end of it all. That huge house of ours--why, Mark, my life has simply been fed to it in little bits. If I had gone away from it every morning and worked a few solid hours, by this time I should have something to show--knowledge, or money, or some real achievement."

Any old time you see a man eating with his knife you can bet that he is boss in his house and that what he says goes.

REMARKABLE CASE of Mrs. HAM

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity.

Shamrock, Mo.--"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had falling, inflammation, and congestion, female weakness, pains in both sides, backaches and bearing down pains, was short of memory, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and had neither strength nor energy. There was always a fear and dread in my mind, I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get out again. I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in grave or in an asylum if your medicine had not saved me. But now I can work all day, sleep well at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my house, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost entirely free of the bad symptoms I had before taking your remedies, and all is pleasure and happiness in my home."

WINTER BASEBALL CHAT.

No pitcher ever won more than three games in a world series.

"What is a winter baseball story without a denial the next day?"

Outfielder Nixon led the Eastern Association batters with a mark of .337.

Eddie Plank, who joined the Athletics in 1901, is 39 years old.

World series umpires each draw down $1,000 for their four days' labors.

Eddie Collins and Dick Rudolph played in the old Northern League in Vermont long ago.

One good thing about losing a world's series is that it keeps the players off the stage.

Organized baseball is intensely patriotic. It will permit the use of nothing but American-made baseballs and bats.

Chief Bender's boast, "Get one run for me, and we'll win," reminds us of what Chitcho Mathewson had about pitching to Frank B. "Sammy McConnell, stop and captain a baseball team, but tryout with Clark."

"LICKED TO A FRAZZLE"

Teddy Roosevelt Humbled By Defeats and Says: "I Am a Private of the Privatest Kind."

(W. P. Walton in Lexington Herald.)
At last Colonel Roosevelt has read the handwriting on the wall. After going carefully over the election returns and observing how badly he and his party were done up, he makes the formal announcement that "I am a private of the privatest kind." It must have taken the last bit of courage of the interesting egotist to have made such acknowledgement, and it is a gratifying sign that the man who tried to ignore the time-honored popular provision against a third term for President has finally awakened to his senses.

An overweening ambition for power and prestige led the really great man to disrupt the party that had so often honored him, and almost destroyed his usefulness, which might have been great, to the common country by giving it the benefit of the disinterested advice of a patriot. We have, however, no word of criticism for him except that he tried to break a tradition a hundred years old, for we recognize that but for him we would not have been able to "thank God for Woodrow Wilson."

The Democrats owe him much for his unintentional help, and we shall always have a kind feeling for him, while realizing that even as great a man as he can not go contrary to the established custom of the country in the matter of third-terms.

Colonel Roosevelt threw his all into the breach and lost, and at present his fortunes seem at the lowest ebb. He appears to realize it, as but for it he never could have gotten his consent to utter those sad words, to him: "I am a private of the privatest kind." He may not be entirely down and out, for he is a man of great resource, but one thing is very evident--his third party is as dead as that of the greenbackers and other mushroom-so-called parties which have sprung up only to trouble for awhile and die. His only hope now is to return to the party he wronged, beg forgiveness and prove his sincerity by his acts.

We have reason to believe that such a course would meet with the same treatment by the Republican party that the prodigal son received from his father. If he ever expects further political preferment he will have to go and say to the leaders: "I have sinned grievously against you and your party and am no more worthy to be called one of you. Make me as one of the hired servants." If he will do that, and we expect that he will before a great while, the signs are that all will be forgiven and the party will take him to its heart again. Otherwise he will remain as he says he is now, "A private of the privatest kind."

BIRDS FROM EUROPE

Largest Shipment Ever Brought To This Country Came From Homes.

New York.--No less than 25,000 song birds chirped and sang when the steamship Oosterdyk, from Rotterdam, arrived at Hoboken. The birds were part of a Christmas cargo that was carried by the steamer; they came from the homes of hundreds of peasants and bird fanciers in Saxony, and comprised what is believed to be the largest shipment of birds ever brought to America. Two-thirds of these birds were canaries. For the most part the birds were in cages of wood, with metal wire sides and tops, from 50 to 100 to a cage. Others of the more expensive variety occupied little wicker cages. On the way across the ocean the ship was doctored with a medley of songs from daybreak until dark. The birds are admitted duty free and will be shipped largely to Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.
